SAYS BONAR LAW

Asserts Men Responsible for 251,000 TROOPS Command of Allied Armies Are Confident.

VERY GRATEFUL FOR AID BY AMERICANS

He Likens Position of Russia to That of Patient In Delirium.

London July 6-The coming German blow will not be less dangerous because of the time employed in preparing for it, but it is comforting to know that the men responsible for command of the Allied armies are confident of the result, Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, declared last night at a dinner to the delegates of the parliamentady commercial conference.

"It is impossible to foresee the future," he said, "but I do believe the fateful hour of this war is upon us and is in another three months our enemies have won no strategic objelt then their campaign will have falled and it will, I hope, be a decisive failure."

The Germans possessed the most perfect, military machine that ever existed, but the chancellor said he believed that when the history of the war was written it would be seen that Germany had made greater military mistakes than any other power. He instanced the submarine warfare, which had brought the United States into the war. He doubted whether Germany would get as much out of Russia as she expected. Wherever the German soldier had planted his foot the name of Germany was loathed for generations.

The chancellor spoke gratefully of American help and alluded to the wonderful organization in sending American troops across the Atlantic The Germans, he said, could now weigh the advantages and disadvantages of ther submarine campaign through them.

Mr. Bonar Law said he trembled to think what would have been the position of the Allies after Russia went out of the war but for the help of the United States. He had not despaired of Russia who was like a patient in a delirium. t was impossible from hour to hour to tell what the future might bring there.

The population of the enemy powers was 154 000,000, that of the Entente alliance 1,200,000,000. That in itself was a league of nations with a military force that was terrible, but the economic force also was strong, Of one thing he said, there was no doubt, just as the Allies were standing together now so would they stand together when the war was over to repair the ravages of the war. The chancellor concluded: "I see no immediate hope of peace There is no road to it, I fear, except the rugged road through victory. ill be fatal to the world and fatal to the Germans themselves if they are York Wednesday by A.
